4 Jailed In Looting Of Wrecked Car

Petty Theft Suspects Rounded Up By Sheriff

An aftermath of the recent fatal automobile accident on the Kelsey grade in which James Miller, 24, died, was revealed Wednesday morning at the sheriff's office in the arrest of four men charged with petty theft.

Jailed by Sheriff George Smith and Deputy William Bathurst, the four are alleged to have stolen parts from the wrecked machine.

Investigation which led to the arrest of the four followed a complaint by William Ganow of Georgetown, who purchased the wrecked car for salvage from the legal owner, in Auburn.

Ganow had been dismanteling the car and reported to the sheriff that before he could get the salvage hauled away, someone carried it away for him.

L. T. Miller, 41, L. Reuter, 25, and Bill Blank, 34, all of Shingle Springs, were taken into custody Tuesday and on Wednesday morning the officers added to the list with the arrest of Ben Blank, who gave his address as Placerville.

$8,414 COUNTY FOREST RETURN

Receipts For Year '36 Are Announced Wednesday

National forests pay to the states within which their boundaries lie, 25 per cent of all receipts taken in. These funds, upon being paid into the state treasuries, are in turn distributed to the various counties by the state governments.

From receipts taken in during the fiscal year 1936 on the Eldorado National Forest, the State of California received a net amount of $8,414.31, according to a bulletin released from the forest headquarters. These receipts accrued chiefly from timber sales, grazing permits, special use permits covering summer home and resort sites, etc.

The total amount paid to the State of California for the same period from all the national forests within its boundaries was $134,142.06.

TENSION SEEN BETWEEN ITALY, GREAT BRITAIN

By FREDERICK KUH
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, (Copyright, 1937, By the United Press)—Such dangerous tension has arisen in Italian-British relations that authorities sought today to restrain British newspapers and news agencies from publishing information likely to incite further the anger of Premier Benito Mussolini.

The cabinet met today, its regular weekly meeting, and was understood to have discussed the Italian situation. Particularly, it was understood, ministers discussed the Italian announcement of yesterday that Mussolini would consider no agreement to withdraw "volunteer" troops from Spain.

The situation was peculiar. No urgent problem had arisen between the Italian and British governments. The tension was caused by a series of taunting or reproachful statements about Italy by newspapers and private persons, notably clergymen.

Safety Measures In School Blast Urged

OVERTON, Tex. (UP)—Two safety measures were recommended today by Senator Joe Hill as safeguards against future disasters like the explosion last week at the New London school—the use of malodorous gas in fuel lines and regular inspection of public buildings.

STORK BRINGS SET OF TWINS

While it has been raining "pennies from heaven" most of the week, Dr. Stork made a piker of the weather man Tuesday night at Sacramento when he delivered two "Nichols from heaven."

The twins, both boys, are the first-born children of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nichols of Placerville and Mr. Nichols is employed at the Safeway market.

Dr. D. W. Babcock, who was the "Dr. Stork," reports that Mrs. Nichols and the two little Nichols are doing nicely.

FOOD PRICES DUE TO RISE

Increased Returns To Growers Expected To Continue

WASHINGTON (UP)—The butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker may raise their prices, government forecasts of higher prices for wheat, cattle, hogs and sheep indicated today.

Growers of the three principle foods on the American table—bread, meat and potatoes—probably will receive the highest prices since the start of the depression, the Department of Agriculture reported.

The Department of Labor index of retail food prices showed an increase of five per cent during the past year and an increase of about 30 per cent above the low point of the depression in 1933. Meat and bread prices led the advance.

Government officials said the increase in food prices is not "alarming" and that the pay envelope of the average wage earner will now buy more food than a year ago. Workers on a fixed salary have been the principal losers, it was said.

The Department of Agriculture, in forecasting higher prices to producers this summer, gave little hope for a halt in the upward flight.

SUIT FILED FOR LOSSES CLAIMED IN AUTO CRASH

Recovery of damages claimed as resulting from an auto wreck on December 22, last, is the basis of a suit brought in Superior Court Tuesday by Alfred Rey and A. P. Togni against Charles Jerrett Rupley and Rupley Brothers.

The crash, according to the complaint, was between a truck owned by the defendants and a machine owned by Togni in which Rey was riding, and took place about 3 o'clock on the afternoon of December 22 on the Mother Lode highway.

On behalf of plaintiff Togni, damages amounting to $350 to his car and $500 for personal injury are asked. On behalf of plaintiff Rey, $1,000 damages for personal injury are asked. The complaint was prepared by Attorney C. W. Pearson.

Charlene Franklin Has Birthday Party

Charlene Franklin was honored on the occasion of her 12th birthday anniversary Friday evening at an Easter party given by her mother, Mrs. J. M. Franklin. Yellow and purple decorations were used. The table was centered with a birthday cake of yellow and white. Chicks, rabbits and Easter eggs completed the Easter motif. Invited were La Verne Noland, Cecilia Zaninia, Alice Hardy, Nola Van Harlingen, Annie Mae Bishop, Joy Coen, Arlene Vivier, Theda Raley, Iris Joan Boyd and Leslie Jaspar, Fred, Westphal, Bobby O'Neil, Wesley Wilkinson, Clyde Longhurst, Walter Dondero, Martin Luther, Jim Franklin and La Verne Potts.

Godfrey Johnson, J. B. Barnes and B. E. Ellerbeck, itinerants, arrested by city officers Tuesday night on charges of disturbing the peace, exhibited a very definite dislike for Placerville and environs when they appeared Wednesday morning in Police Court, and so were released that they might leave the community.

MUDDY RAINS FOR MIDWEST

New Dust Storm Hits New Mexico, Texas Areas

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — Dust storms which were whipped up by gales in southwestern Texas and New Mexico swirled northestward today over an area where rains had moistened the top soil.

Muddy rains were in prospect in the middlewest, weather bureau forecasters said.

The dust started blowing in an area which was considered outside the usual "dust bowl" and swirled northeastward to cover large portions of Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and parts of Missouri.

Visibility at Anthony, Kansas and Waynoka, Oklahoma, was reduced to zero. Dodge City reported a 50-mile wind with visibility varying between zero and two miles.

Eastern Kansas reported the heaviest dust of the year with visibility ranging from a half-mile to two miles. In Kansas City dust obscured the sun and reduced visibility to a mile and a half. Last night visibility here was reduced to three-fourths of a mile.

Demurrer Filed In Mining Litigation

Arguments upon a demurrer filed Tuesday by Russell J. Wilson and the Black Oak mine, to the complaint brought recently by August and Mary Siesenop, are on the calendar for Friday morning in Superior Court.

The complaint asked $5,750 damages and an order enjoining the defendants from further disposition of their mine tailings in the manner complained of in the complaint, which, it is alleged, results in damage to plaintiff's land.

Te demurrer was prepared by Attorney Fred L. Berry of San Francisco. Plaintiff is represented by Attorneys Henry S. Lyon and Robert E. Roberts.

Ivan McKinsey, arrested March 20 on a charge of disturbing the peace, and who then pleaded not guilty and asked a jury trial, changed his plea Wednesday morning to one of guilty and was fined $10. The trial had been set for Thursday.

CALIFORNIA COOKERY UNDER STRONG FOREIGN INFLUENCE

Recipes Of Gracious Russian Princess Date From Settlement At Fort Ross, Spread Throughout State

Among the many nations which have contributed their finer recipes to the gracious array of culinary secrets which are the common heritage of every California housewife, Jane Barton points out that an important part was played by the Russians during their short stay in California.

About 1836 the beautiful Princess Helena Gargaren lived with her husband at Fort Ross, headquarters of the Russian settlement in California. That was just 100 years ago.

Contrary to popular legend as typified in a recent motion picture, Princess Helena was a lovely and gracious lady about whom no slightest breath of scandal has ever appeared. Instead she was famous along the entire Pacific Coast for her complete mastery of the culinary art.

Her vegetable garden so attracted John Sutter, himself a Swiss with a European's natural interest in cookery, that he begged from her many seeds for his own extensive plantations at Sacramento. The accomplished and popular beauty was also famed for her wonderful dinners. She often entertained such distinguished Californians as General Vallejo, John Sutter, Governor Michel Torena, Senor Martinez

TAX RETURNS SHOW DECLINE

Collections Thus Far $1,000,000 Below Estimate

WASHINGTON (UP)—Administration fiscal officials said today that March income tax collections had fallen short of estimates—a shortage expected to increase the 1937 fiscal deficit by at least $150,000,000 and threaten President Roosevelt's projected "technical balance" of the 1938 budget.

Despite admitted failure of tax receipts to meet expectations, President Roosevelt expressed hope at Warm Springs that there will be no new taxes at this session of congress. New Deal congressional leaders said flatly they believed every effort would me made to avoid any new tax bill.

President Roosevelt estimated that the 1937 fiscal year deficit would total $2,652,653,774. This was based on the assumption that income taxes in the present fiscal year would yield $2,372,900,000.

Income tax collections have yielded $1,467,151,544.

New Caravan Tax Is Offered Legislature

SACRAMENTO (UP)—A new attempt to tax automobiles brought into California via the caravan route was launched today with introduction of a bill by Assemblyman Ralph Welsh, Los Angeles, modeled after the law now in effect in New Mexico.

The bill would assess such cars a $7.50 fee for policing and $7.50 for a license. The California Caravan Act of 1935 was declared unconstitutional on the ground the fees were too high.

COLORADO TOWN WIPED OUT BY $100,000 BLAZE

ALMA, Colo. (UP)—Fire, whipped by a 50-mile-an-hour gale, swept the main business block of this small mining town early today, razing seven buildings. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was believed to have started in a two-story frame building which housed a night club, barber shop and an apartment. Fifteen families residing on the secnd floor fled to safety in their night clothing.

The blaze spread rapidly, defying efforts of a "bucket brigade" to hold it in check. It finally smouldered out, leaving only four small buildings, including a theater and a bank, standing.

40-Mile Gale Breaks Denver Store Windows

DENVER (UP)—Denver businessmen looked glumly at broken plate glass windows today after one of the worst wind storms ever to assail this city. The gale, said to have reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour, destroyed the upper floor of a two-story factory, blowing two walls down and then lifting the roof clear and dropping it to the ground.

Trees were uprooted, signs blown down, fences overturned and small buildings wrecked when the gale struck Denver shortly after dusk. The wind raged for about five hours.

School Bonds Election May Be April 30th

Date Set Tentatively Declares Secretary Of Board

The date of the Placerville school bond election, has been set tentatively to be held on April 30.

The original call for the election, upon the question of voting bonds in the amount of $40,000 for needed additions to the main grammar school building, was March 26, but these plans were later withdrawn.

It is understood that the school board has refrained from definitely and officially setting the new date, pending formal issuance of the election call.

School officials pointed out that the rooms to be added to the school plant if the bond issue is approved, would consist of class rooms and a manual training department in addiiton to a school assembly hall, or auditorium.

Officers of the school also stated that ratification of the $40,000 bond issue will not mean, necessarily, that the full amount of the bond issue will be expended. An application for a PWA grant for the improvement is pending and should the application be granted, then only a portion of the funds proposed to be raised by the bond issue would be expended.

BRIDGE JUMPER TO BE INVALID

Highway Patrol Files 2 Charges Against Stunt Man

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Doomed to the life of a paralytic cripple, Ray Woods, 30, professional bridge jumper who broke his back in a 160-foot dive off the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, today had two warrants to answer in police court if and when he is able to leave the hospital.

He was charged with pedestrianism on the bridge, where only motor vehicles are permitted, and with evading the 50 cent bridge toll.

Police Captain Rudy Schmoke said he "felt very sorry for him" when he swore to the warrants.

Doctors said the former St. Louis athletic instructor may die, and in any event he would never be able to walk again.

Pictures of Woods' dive Tuesday evening showed him landing in the water doubled up, the back of his neck striking first.

DIRECTOR BARS FUTURE JOBS AS CONVICT WARDEN

Take the word of Christy Cabanne, motion picture director, keeping a "Condemned Row" of convicts in line is no enviable job—even when the "cons" are only movie prisoners.

Cabanne directed the dramatic feature, "We Who Are About to Die," which is the Wednesday feature at the Empire Theater, with Preston Foster, Ann Dvorak and John Beal in the leading roles. He soon learned he wanted no part of a prison warden's job.

There are 46 players in the cast, and the majority of them play convicts. It was essential that each of these doomed men be expertly delineated, as their emotional reactions to their desperate situation provide much of the dramatic punch of the powerful story.

DRAFT WEALTH IN WAR, SAYS DAKOTA SOLON

NEW YORK (UP)—Conscription of capital and property in the event of war was advocated by Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota in an address last night at the Brooklyn law school.

Senator Nye, who is chairman of the Senate Munitions Investigating Committee, also urged that declaration of war be only by popular referendum.

"If the government," Nye said, "has the right to draft human lives in case of war, it should also have the right to draft dollars and property which are needed to win such a war I urge that as an amendment to the Constitution.

"Another amendment should provide that popular referendum be taken before our country declares another war.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK (UP)—The circus in the Hippodrome had just reached the exciting stage where four lady elephants waltz on barrels when someone said hello to me and it was Ellsworth Vines, a fellow who, at the last count, was the best tennis player in the world.

No, there are few sights which intrigue me more than that of lady elephants waltzing, but a story is a story so I turned my back on the Irene Castles of the jungle and began talking tennis. By the time the poodle dog which holds the world's record for walking on its hind legs (time and distance) came on half an hour later, I had gathered quite a bit of information from Ellsworth, including his opinion of what Fred Perry will do to William T. ("T" as in Methuselah) Tilden in their match at Madison Square Garden tonight.

"Perry oughta kill him," Ellsworth said with one eye on the lady elephants. "I beat Bill 19 out of the 20 times I played him, and the best I've done with Fred so far is something like 18 out of 35. I've bet 150 against 50 that Perry wins, and even money that it doesn't go five sets. And I've got another bet with Vinnie Richards. Fifty that Bruce Barnes licks him in singles."

If any of you sinners want to bet on the match tonight I urge that you follow Vines' tip, because Ellsworth has absolutely no reputation as a spendthrift. He's not a great one to give odds. In fact, I doubt if he would lay you much better than 4 to 1 that tomorrow will be Thursday.

Vines explained that he did not mean to be cruel to Tilden. That his opinion was not meant as disparagement.

"When Bill was young," Ellsworth said, "there never lived a player who beat him And I doubt if tennis ever will see his equal. But he's 44 now and that's a hell of an age for top tennis. I tell you this—if he does beat Perry it'll be the greatest victory he ever scored. And Perry probably will catch a boat for Siam, because if there is one thing Fred doesn't like Tilden is both of 'em. You know, Bill never has said a nice word about Fred. The nearest he ever came to paying him a compliment was when he said Perry was the best player of a lousy lot."

We halted our conversation to watch 24 ponies do what 24 ponies always do in a circus. Then I mentioned the subject of an open tennis championship.

"It looks a long way off," Vines answered. "The U.S.L.T.A. just doesn't want any part of one It makes me laugh, though, to hear the amateur big shots saying they can't have one until they get permission from the international tennis body Nuts! The United States Association could have one anytime they wanted it Can you imagine the international boys kicking the United States out of the Davic Cup or forbidding our amateurs from playing in Europe. Without the United States the Davis Cup would be a joke."

Did he believe the U.S.L.T.A.'s objections to an open tournament were based on the fear the pros would cut in too heavily on the gate?

"Sure. What else? That's silly, too, because most of us would be willing to make the purse to the winning pro a small one, just as it is in the open golf championship, and trust to the prestige of the title to bring in the money. I'd play in one tomorrow for a top prize of $1,000. And with the pros playing the amateurs the increased gate receipts would more than make up for the prize money.

"But what the hell! I'm doing alright. People are always saying that exhibition tennis like I'm playing now will die for lack of new blood—new stars. But they're wrong, I believe. All we need is a new amateur every two or three years to keep going alright And by year after next, when Perry and I have played most of the cities available, who knows but what Budge or Von Cramm or McGrath will be ready to make a little money and fewer cups and saucers Those silver cups make poor eating after a while"

The hind leg walking dog came in at this point and conversation ceased. The little poodle walked 'round and 'round, pawing the air with his front feet. Made me think of Maxie Baer or Bob Pastor fighting, only the dog was going the wrong way for them.

PRINCESS WAS FAMED HOSTESS

Many of her delightful recipes were given to these colorful pioneer women and they have gradually spread throughout the state so that they have a distinct influence on California cookery today. Jane Barton at California's Homecraft Institute will discuss the influence of this array on California today and will include one of these old Russian recipes in her program.

The Homecraft Institute covers a great many more subjects than cookery alone. Jane Barton, herself a homemaker, has carefully tested her program from a practical point of view. Simplicity, economy, and the making the most out of what is available are cardinal points in Jane Barton's program.

But the Homecraft Institute covers every field of home economics. Here are some of the subjects Mrs. Barton will discuss:

How should a living room be arranged?

Modern methods of home laundering.

California parties and games—recipes for hilarity.

Flower arrangements in California homes.

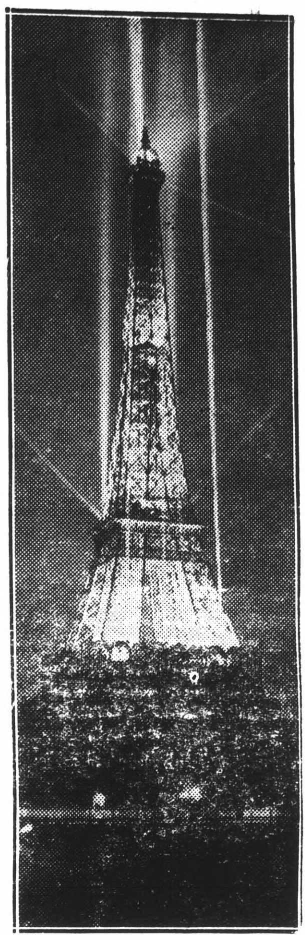
Time-saving ideas that really save.

Every homemaker is invited to take part in the menu contest which will be explained by Jane Barton in detail at the first session. Prizes will be awarded at the end of this series of Homecraft Institutes to those California housewives submitting the most typical California menu featuring California products and based on simplicity and reasonable economy.

The prize winning menus will be tested in the Homecraft Department of the Pacific Rural Press for their dietetic value and ease of preparation. Every California housewife attending Jane Barton's Homecraft Institute will have an opportunity to take part in this contest. Jane Barton also invites everyone in her audience who has a special personal home economics problem to talk with her after any of the sessions of the Institute by coming up on the platform and meeting her in person. Every session of the Institute will begin at 2 o'clock and end promptly at 4:30 so that homemakers can return to their residences in time to prepare the evening meals. Every session of the Institute is absolutely free.

The California Homecraft Institute has a really home-like atmosphere. The things Jane Barton suggests are the helpful, wholesome things every [illegible] homemaker would wish in her own home.

The Institute will be held in the Shakespeare Clubhouse on April 7, 8 and 9 under the joint auspices of The Republican and the Pacific Rural Press. Plan now to attend during the three afternoons. Each session will start promptly at 2 p. m. and close soon enough so that homemakers will have ample time to attend to the preparation of the evening meal. Every session is absolutely free. For a better appreciation of the importance of modern methods in homemaking, come to every session as our guests.



MISFIT — Although an official decision has not yet been made, it is likely the famed Eiffel Tower in Paris will be demolished soon as an esthetic misfit in a reconstructed area. In that event it will literally go out in a blaze of glory, for here is how it has been illuminated for this year's Paris Art Exhibition. It was built in 1889 and is 985 feet high.

FLY TO EUROPE IN TWO YEARS

Britain Charts Route Crossing North Atlantic

By DAN ROGERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—At Foynes, on the River Shannon in Ireland, imaginary flights are made daily over the Atlantic, in preparation for regular air service to America, the Air Ministry has revealed.

Meteorological experts of the Air Ministry and Imperial Airways plot a "flight" in accord with reports of wind strength and direction and other weather information received by radio from ships and transferred immediately to "synoptic" charts that give a general picture of the weather over the 2,000 miles between Ireland and Newfoundland.

The experiments were begun in London, but when they reached an advanced stage they were transferred to Foynes, near which are the land and sea bases from which the Imperial and Pan-American planes will operate across the Atlantic.

Experimental flights by special transoceanic land planes, sea planes and the Mayo "composite" or "piggy-back" ships will be carried out during the next few months. Informed British aviation opinion, however, believes that regular air mail flights will not be begun until some time in 1938 and that passenger schedules will not be possible before 1939 or 1940.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Clean Face, Proper Diet, Fresh Air and Exercise Best Way to Avoid Pimples

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

ONE of the great tragedies in the lives of boys and girls, between the ages of fourteen and twenty-five years, is pimples or "acne" of the face. The presence of a number of pimples on the forehead, cheeks, nose, chin, neck, chest, and back is extremely disfiguring and spoils the social life of many a boy and girl. To the person having them, they stand out like a blighting nemesis, and cause them to feel that everybody is looking at their pimples. The principal cause of these pests is an oily skin, developing at about the age of fourteen due to the increasing size and activity of the oily glands. The oil glands get plugged with dried oil causing blackheads, which become inflamed and result in a pustule or pimple. There may be only a few blackheads with an occasional pustule or they may be so abundant that they cover almost the entire surface.

DR. CHRISMAN

After discharging their contents they may leave a deep disfiguring scar. The craving of young people for sugars, starches, fats, candy, chocolates, syrups and soda fountain drinks is marked and indulgence causes pmples. The resulting indigestion and constipation add to the trouble.

The use of cold creams, powders and other cosmetic preparations, provides plugs for the oil glands and encourages the development of the trouble.

Practically all cases can be controlled, but the success depends on co-operation of the patient. The first requirement is the one which strikes at the heart or at least at the appetite of the victim. The diet must be restricted and controlled. The things the growing boy or girl likes best must be avoided. Sweets, starches, fats, butter, cream, candy, chocolates, nuts, peanut butter, fried foods, rich gravies, cakes and rich desserts must be avoided as a pestilence. Breakfast foods requiring cream and sugar should be restricted; fruit syrups, sundaes and soda-fountain drinks are taboo.

A young lady said to me a few days ago, after I outlined her diet, "Why, you cut out all the things I like! I'll die, if I can't have them." My reply was, "Sink or swim, survive or perish; cut out the sweets and lose your pimples, or keep your sweets and have more pimples."

These disfiguring things will likely disappear about the time you reach twenty-five. What can you eat? Lots of things, most of the things that appear on your table except those that require the addition of cream, butter and sugar. Meat, without rich gravy, chicken, fish, all kinds of cooked and raw fruits and vegetables. Some white bread and some potatoes, but usually brown or whole wheat bread, sweet potatoes, rice, spaghetti, bran cereals, pie in moderation. Hot breads, waffles, corn bread sparingly and without the addition of syrups.

Constipation must be overcome and that is often one of the very difficult things to accomplish. Locally soap and warm water are absolutely necessary. Not medicated soap, just soap. Avoid powders and face creams for the time. After using soap and water apply some astringent lotion, such as a weak solution of borax. You want to dry the skin and reduce the oils.

Sunshine, fresh air and exercise are essential. Ultra-violet rays from a mercury arc lamp, sufficient to cause slight redness and scaling is of considerable temporary benefit. This, followed by the use of X-ray, will cure almost all cases.

SUN WINS

MONTEREY (UP)—Monterey residents prefer sunshin to shade; also they want their streets wide enough for traffic without the cars hitting trees.

TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—Men who are autocrats in their homes act that way merely because they are not experts in solving problems, Judge H. S. Mott told an audience here.

weather observer, reported from his headquarters at the Pacific Gas & Electric Company offices that there were about four inches of snow at the El Dorado power house Wednesday morning but it melted rapidly during the forenoon.

Depth at the 14-mile stone was about two feet, Martin was advised, with eight to ten inches of new snow Tuesday night. At the canal intake at the 30-mile stone the depth was about ten inches.

Reports from Twin Lakes as of 4 p. m. Tuesday told of 107 inches of snow on the ground at that hour, of which seven inches fell on Tuesday.

SCHOOL TRAGEDY TOLL LESS THAN TRAFFIC DEATHS

SACRAMENTO—The disaster at New London, Texas, where it is estimated that 425 school children were killed and many injured by an explosion, has shocked the nation, but is exceeded by the number of children killed and injured in automobile accidents in California during 1936, according to Ray Ingels, director of the state motor vehicle department.

Four hundred and eighty children were killed on California's highways last year and 10,759 were injured, the greatest number of deaths and injuries to children in the history of the state.

Ingels, who is sponsoring a more rigid examination of drivers, and official inspection of cars, as a means of reducing accidents, says that the number of children killed last year increased 113 over the 1935 total, while the number of those injured was increased by 706.

"JIG-SAW" MAP PIECES PUZZLE

2 States Make Peace After Bickering 150 Years

WASHINGTON (IP)— The jig-saw puzzle of states is one piece closer to solution after more than 150 years of bickering over backyard boundaries.

Vermont and New Hampshire have patched up their old dispute, through the good offices of the U. S. Supreme Court, but Virginia and the District of Columbia and Ohio and Michigan are still at odds on overlapping claims.

Just when a new dispute will pop up to plague the geological survey of the Interior Department or the courts, the map-making bureau doesn't know, but in the past such difficulties have made many new maps necessary.

Even now a corner of Kentucky is cut off from the rest of the state by the meandering Mississippi, the greatest single reason for new maps, because Ol' Man River rolled over in its bed one night.

The New England dispute was settled with the approval of the Supreme Court by establishing the limit of New Hampshire's jurisdiction at the original low water line of the west bank of the Connecticut River, which separates the state from Vermont for 200 miles.

During the century and a half of dispute, both states had at times collected taxes from property owners. While the settlement will not change small-scale maps, it has ended long-time disputes over the control of power plants and the maintenance of bridges.

Elimination of the uncertainty over the Ohio-Michigan boundary at the west end of Lake Erie now rests with the Michigan legislature, where a resolution to clarify the difficulty is pending. An identical resolution has been adopted by the Ohio legislature.

AMELIA'S EXPLOITS RIVAL FLIGHTS OF ACE AVIATORS

NEW YORK (IP)—Amelia Earhart, who started flying back in 1920, has held her title of "Queen of the Air" against the challenges of women from a dozen nations and she holds more "firsts" than probably any other woman of her generation.

In 1920, after only a few months of flying, she became the first woman to receive from the National Aeronautic Association the transport license of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

From that time on she acquired records so swiftly that even she had a difficult time keeping account of them.

They were:

1921—Established an official women's altitude record of 14,000 feet in California.

1922—Gave up flying temporarily to take up social settlement work at Denison house in Boston.

June 17, 1928—Became the first woman to fly the Atlantic when she crossed with Wilmer Stutz and Louis Gordon in a tri-motor land plane from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Burry Port, Wales, in 15 hours, 40 minutes—a distance of 2,026 miles.

October, 1928—Made first solo transcontinental round trip by a woman pilot.

July, 1930—Established two international women's speed records at Detroit, 174.9 miles an hour over a 100-kilometer course and 181.18 miles an hour over a three-kilometer course.

April, 1931—Set a new autogyro altitude record of 19,000 feet at Willow Grove, Pa., breaking her own previous record of 18,500 feet.

June, 1931—Escaped unhurt from a forced landing in her autogyro in Texas and flew on to Newark airport, making the first transcontinental round-trip in an autogyro, covering 11,000 miles in 15 hours flying time. In September, 1931, she wrecked her autogyro at the state fair grounds in Detroit but escaped injury.

May, 1932—Took off from Harbor Grace in her Lockheed-Vega plane with $15 and a tooth brush in her pocket, flew across the Atlantic in fog and storm and landed in an Irish pasture—the first woman to fly the North Atlantic alone.

June, 1932—Awarded the National Geographis Society's gold medal by President Hoover for her ocean flight.

August, 1932 — Became the only woman to fly non-stop from coast to coast and established a new cross-country distance record for women when she flew from Los Angeles to Newark in her Wasp-powered Lockheed plane in 19 hours, 5 minutes.

May, 1935—Made the first non-stop solo flight from Mexico City to Newark, flying 2,125 miles in 14 hours, 18 minutes in her Lockheed monoplane.

January, 1935—Became the first aviator—man or woman—to fly solo from Hawaii to California, when she spanned 2,400 miles of rain-whipped Pacific in 18 hours, 15 minutes.
